

tabulated data

information displayed in tables and charts, approved by a registered professional engineer, and used to design and construct a protective system.