

oxygen transfer ratio

Amount of oxygen absorbed by a liquid compared to the amount delivered into the liquid through an aeration or oxygenation device, usually expressed as the percentage equivalent; used to compare performance of aeration systems.