

rail

Device located within a dosing tank that supports the pump and facilitates its removal or replacement.