

ejector pump

Centrifugal pump that can (in addition to passing liquids) pass solids of a specific size in accordance with the diameter of the pump intake and discharges the resulting mixture under pressure to a subsequent system component.