

headworks

All parts and/or devices between the discharge assembly and the distribution laterals (including filtration devices, valves, gauges, and pressure regulators), used to control the quality, rate, pressure, and direction of flow of effluent; typically used in a drip distribution system.