

spalling

Condition in which the surface of a concrete component is physically degraded (flaking), exposing aggregate and/or structural reinforcement materials.