

diffused aeration

Process of introducing air into a treatment component or process through a diffuser using a compressor or blower.