

management information system

Computer-based system capable of capturing, storing, analyzing, and displaying specifically referenced information.