

surge flow

flow of effluent that occurs in a short enough period that it upsets the function of one or more components of the treatment train.