

premises

The land and buildings located on the user's side of the point of demarcation between the communications service provider and the user.