water softening

Reduction in the number of and/or removal of polyvalent cations which are the principal cause of hardness in water.