

emulsification

Suspension of solids as a result of decreased surface tension due to the presence of an emulsifying agent or some substance that alters or prohibits normal microbial activity; see emulsifying agent.