

absorption

Process of incorporation or assimilation by which one substance is physically taken into and included with another substance; for example, plant roots assimilating nutrients from the soil.