

telemetry

remote communication of system status, typically incorporating an auto-dialing notification feature.