

volatile solids

weight loss on ignition of total solids, not distinguishing between inorganic and organic matter, and including loss due to decomposition or volatilization of some mineral salts at 1,022 degrees F (550 degrees C).