

pressure loss

Change in pressure between two points in an operating system as a result of friction and/or a change in elevation; also known as head loss.