

electrolysis

An external electrical current forcing metal corrosion in the presence of an electrolyte (such as salt water or moist air).