

injection well

Well by which effluent is transmitted to an underground formation; in most cases these are regulated and require a permit from a regulatory authority.