

vacuum relief

process of allowing air entry into a component to relieve a vacuum condition.