

operator

Professional who assesses process operational status, adjusts component settings to optimize treatment system function, performs root cause analysis to identify reasons for deviations from optimal system performance, conducts sampling for performance verification, and documents findings.