

mechanical aeration

Process of introducing air into a treatment component or process by physical agitation using a device such as a paddle, paddle wheel, spray nozzle or turbine.