

capillary action

Attraction (cohesion of liquid molecules and adhesion between a liquid and a solid surface) resulting in movement of liquid from a zone of greater liquid content to an area of lesser liquid content.