

swing ties

distance from two fixed points to locate a system component.