

mineralization

Biological transformation of organic nitrogen into other inorganic forms that can become part of additional biologically driven treatment processes.