

cesspool

Underground pit into which raw household wastewater is discharged and from which the liquid seeps into the surrounding soil; may or may not be partially lined; if septic tank effluent is discharged to such a component, it is considered a seepage pit; emphasis is on disposal rather than treatment, resulting in this technology being phased out.