

hub stake

Short stake placed at a station and driven almost flush with the ground; hub stakes are used to obtain station elevations in drainage and other kinds of elevation work; also called a hub.