

acceptable

Condition in which a component is performing its intended purpose and is in an operable state; see also, unacceptable.