

self-priming pump

Pump that is designed such that a small amount of liquid retained in the housing enables the pump to initiate operation without additional liquid.