

nephelometric turbidity unit (NTU)

Standard unit of measurement used in water analysis to estimate the clarity of water; a nephelometer passes light through a sample and measures the amount of light deflected (usually, that light deflected at a 90-degree angle).