

design flow

Estimated volume of wastewater per unit of time for which a component or system is designed.