

effective size

Particle diameter of which 10 percent of the sample is finer by weight as determined by a sieve analysis; also known as D10.