

drainage class (natural)

Group of soils defined by frequency and duration of wet periods similar to those under which the soil developed.